Moderator Response: Condescending tone snipped.

Moderators, are we really to believe using a condescending tone is against the Comments Policy?

Moderator Response: Condescending tone snipped.

I just had a comment vanish, so I'll try again. The comment directly above me from Brad Keyes was snipped with the note, "Condescending tone snipped." There is nothing in the Comments Policy that says condescending tones are unacceptable, and even the briefest reviews of the comments on this site would show they are allowed.

I scoffed at this in the comment that got deleted, so clearly you are aware of the issue. Why then would the note still claim the reason for editing the comment from Keyes is condescending tone?

Moderator Response: Moderation complaints snipped. If you prefer, feel free to interpret "condescending tone" as "inflammatory".

34. Brandon Shollenberger at 15:10 PM on 17 September, 2012

Should I also take, "Moderation complaints snipped" to mean "inflammatory snipped"?

Um. So my comments are getting deleted despite them not breaking any rules? Or are we to believe asking why something got deleted is inflammatory?

You've deleted, either in their entirety or in their contents, four comments of mine without giving any explanation as to what rule(s) I've supposedly broken.

You may consider me asking what I've done wrong "trolling," but I think most people will see it as it is. A genuine attempt to get an answer as to what is and is not allowed.
